Commander D. R. Marques de Azevedo, naval attaché of the embassy, and Mr. de Vianna-Leksch, the second secretary of the embassy.

The Vice President and Mrs. Sherman are entertaining their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Cookingham, of Utica, N. Y., who were married last week, in Providence, R. I., the Vice President and Mrs. Sherman going up to the wedding. Mr. Sherman, the youngest son of the Vice President, also is the guest of his parents. The party spent yesterday afternoon at the Chevy Chase golf course, where young Mr. Sherman played in the golf tournament.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. MacVeagh, is spending the week in New York, and will return to Washington on Saturday. Mrs. MacVeagh remained in their apartment at the Arlington.

The Secretary of the Navy, Mrs. Meyer, and the Misses Meyer will go to New York to-morrow whence Mr. Meyer and the daughters will sail on Saturday for a month's trip abroad. They will spend a short time in Rome with Mrs. Meyer's aged aunt, and return to this country by the same ship. They will then go to their home at Hamilton, Mass. Secretary and Mrs. Meyer entertained a small company at dinner last evening as a farewell.

Mrs. Leutze, wife of Rear Admiral Leutze, of the navy yard, took a party of young people down the river yesterday afternoon on one of the government launches for a picnic. The guests were asked to meet Miss Leutze's guest, Miss Minton, of New York, and Miss Emery, of Morristown, N. J., who is the guest of Miss Laura Wells. Miss Emery will be the guest next week of the Misses Downing. Miss Wells will go to Atlantic City late next week for a fortnight's visit.

Col. and Mrs. Frank L. Denny have taken a cottage for the summer at Beaver Lake, in the Adirondacks, and will go there in June.

Miss Irene Dietrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Dietrich, of this city, was married on Wednesday afternoon to Mr. Horace W. Wright, of Kearney, N. J. The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, in East Capitol street, by Rev. Enoch Thompson, rector of the Church of the Nativity, before a company formed of relatives only and half a dozen very close friends. The house was handsomely decorated with palms, white roses, and Southern smilax, and the music was furnished by two close friends of the bride, Miss Olive Demarest, pianist, and Miss Elton Rosensville, violinist. They gave a charming programme of music.

The bride was attended by her gifted young sister, Miss Anita Dietrich, a scholarship pupil of the Peabody Conservatory of Music, and the best man was Mr. Leslie Martin, of New York. The bride entered the drawing-room with her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a superb imported gown of natural color rajah, elaborately embroidered in old rose silk, made in three-piece style. Her hat was a large one of old rose with splendid willow plumes shading from cream to old rose. She carried a shower of lilies of the valley and Bride roses. Miss Dietrich, the maid of honor, wore pale pink satin made directorate and en train, with large pink hat with pink plumes, and carried a large bunch of pink sweet peas and pink carnations. Miss Bertha Wright, of Kearney, N. J., sister of the bridegroom, was present.

After the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served, after which the bride and bridegroom left for Philadelphia and New York, and will later go to Atlantic City. They will then go to Elmira, N. Y., where they have a sixteen weeks' engagement in opera, the bride as the prima donna of the company and the bridegroom as the leading tenor.

Mrs. Wright is one of the most gifted young women who ever adopted the stage from local circles. She has a charming soprano voice, which has been cultivated in Europe, and she is gifted with a splendid knowledge of the piano and in other instrumental lines. She also has the advantage of much personal beauty. She met Mr. Wright since she went on the stage, where she has had unprecedented success. First with the "Merry Widow" company, and later in vaudeville musical sketch. Mr. Wright is an Englishman by birth, but his family have lived in Kearney for about four years. They have just signed with the Rorick Glen Opera company to give opera throughout the season at Elmira.

Mrs. Calderon Carlisle and Miss Carlisle have gone to Hot Springs, Va., to open their cottage there for the season.

Countess von Moltke, wife of the Danish Minister, has gone to Boston to spend a fortnight with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, of that city, at their suburban place at Lancaster, Mass. The Minister will sail for his home in Denmark June 22, and the countess and their infant daughter will remain with Mr. and Mrs. Thayer at Lancaster, and later at Newport, during his absence.

Miss Esther Townsend, of New York, fiancée of Capt. Frank Evans, who has been the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Biddle, returned to her home in New York yesterday. The marriage of Miss Townsend and Capt. Evans will take place in the fall.

ADJOURNS FOR SUMMER.

Pocahontas Memorial Association to Take a Recess.

The last regular meeting of the Pocahontas Memorial Association before the summer recess, was held yesterday afternoon in the Ebbitt House.

The chief topic of discussion was the movement of the association to erect a monument to the memory of Pocahontas at Jamestown, Va. The plan has been for foot for some time. The society has raised $5,000, and wants Congress to furnish another $5,000. A bill providing for such an appropriation passed the Senate at the last session of Congress, and was favorably reported by the House committee, but was crowded out in the rush of the final days of the session.

Members of the association hope to have it passed at the next meeting of the legislators, according to Mrs. J. D. Garrison, treasurer of the association and chairman of the Congressional bill committee. Her report was read by her daughter, Miss Florence Garrison.

Others who reported were Miss Ella L. Dorsey, on contributions from the Colonial Dames; Miss Mary L. Goddard, chairwoman of the committee on appointments; Miss Mary Desha, recording secretary; and Miss Louise Harrison, corresponding secretary. Miss Jane Randolph Codwise, vice president, presided at the meeting.

Death of Senator's Mother.

Mrs. Jonathan Bourne, mother of United States Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., of Oregon, died May 12, at New Bedford, Mass., where she had long been a resident. Senator Bourne left Washington yesterday to attend the funeral at New Bedford.

Hosiery Men Coming To-day.

About twenty-five hosiery manufacturers of the West and South will arrive here from Philadelphia this morning, and as many more to-morrow morning, to talk with their respective Senators concerning the need of increasing the hosiery duties as provided for in the Payne bill.

Simpson Goes to London.

Commander E. Simpson, U. S. N., was yesterday ordered to London as naval attaché of the American Embassy. He relieves Commander John H. Gibbons, whose detail of three years has expired.

ART FEDERATION

COMPLETES WORK

G. W. Cable Gives Address on Garden Competition.

MR. FRENCH TALKS OF DEFECTS

President of Chicago Art Institute Asserts Simplicity of Plan Should Be Desired in the Erection of Museum Buildings—Washington's Park Commission Plan Approved.

Amid well wishes for its future success, the American Federation of Arts, organized a few days ago, and already promising to be one of the factors in American art endeavor, adjourned yesterday afternoon, after a most successful convention, participated in by the country's best-known architects and artists.

The meeting took place at the New Willard, and the new president, Charles W. Hutchinson, of Chicago, presided. George W. Cable made an address at the afternoon session on "The Northampton prize flower garden competition." He said people should not be interested in gardening when the frost is in the ground; that those interested in the movement should go around in early spring and interest others. Mr. Cable showed how this work is carried on in Northampton, where the secretaries of the organization visit the gardens of the town and encourage the people to beautify their places.

Few Persons Who Know.

"In our American communities are so few people," said Mr. Cable, "who think they know, but really know nothing about gardening. Northampton is divided into districts, and each district has its own flower garden competition, at which professional gardeners are excluded."

Mr. Cable said that by using the word garden, he did not mean the garden should be in front of the house or behind the house, or on this side of the house, or on that side of the house, that everything included the house, the barn, the walks, the chicken coop, the dog house, should comprise the garden; and the whole combination should be looked upon as a garden, and treated accordingly. He said the flower-garden movement was the best means of keeping the back yard clean. Mr. Cable encourages natural gardening, but advises children should not be permitted to dabble in it.

William M. R. French, president of the Chicago Art Institute, spoke of the drawbacks and defects of art galleries. He said in part:

"It is singular and regrettable that when a museum is built, the opinions of the directors and his associates are not always sought and followed. Often the museum director or librarian explains to his guest that he has had nothing to do with the planning of the building, and wishes many things were otherwise. Too often considerations of external architecture prevail, and the exhibition rooms are resultant forms, instead of the predominant factors they ought to be. Simplicity of plan is greatly to be desired; that is, such a disposition of rooms that the visitor may be able readily to grasp the arrangement and know all the time where he is as he passes through successive rooms. In general I regard very large, uniform galleries produce a weariness in the visitor, of the cause of which he is unconscious, while well proportioned rooms of different shapes and sizes produce what somebody else has called a 'sympathetic effect.'"

Referring to President Taft's speech before the Washington Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Trade, indorsing the systematic development of this city, Glenn Brown, of this city, offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

"The delegates in this convention, representing over sixty societies from all parts of the United States, heartily approve and thank the President for his expressed intention of adding this most important movement in the development of the city."

It was also resolved to request Congress to adopt a systematic plan for the future park treatment, location of statutory and buildings to be erected in harmony therewith, and to approve a bill for a bureau of fine arts, controlled by a council composed of artists of the various branches.

Curtis Enlists Support.

William E. Curtis spoke of the great field of usefulness, and requested the members to enlist the support of all art societies not affiliated with the organization.

Invitations were extended to the members to visit the McKinley and Armstrong manual training schools, after which adjournment took place at the call of the board of directors.

At the morning session E. J. Parker, president of the Quincy (Ill.) Boulevard and Park Association, delivered an address on "What can be done by co-operation for outdoor art." Of this city, Mr. Parker said that if developed upon the plan originated under the President's inspiration, it would serve as an example for the artistic upbuilding of cities throughout the United States.

Edward T. Hartman, secretary of the Massachusetts Civil League, spoke of community work, and the president of the American Civic Association for the Promotion of Community Beauty, J. Horace MacFarland, spoke on "The city beautiful."

Resolutions were passed approving the park commission plan for the development of Washington, the establishment of a bureau of fine arts, as outlined in the Newlands bill, and the project of the George Washington Memorial Association to erect in this city a building in which conventions and the like could be held.

A vote of thanks was extended President and Mrs. Taft, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jennings, and the trustees of the Corcoran Gallery for hospitality, and an expression of appreciation of the service to art by the Mrs. Charles M. Foulke, was given.

NEW CORSET CLASP.

Keeps Steels from Pressing Uncomfortably Against Wearer.

An invention of interest to women is a new corset clasp which is designed to add much to the comfort of the user. There clasps are so shaped that when a corset provided with them is fastened to the wearer they incline slightly outward from about the waist line to the top of the corset, and because of this outward inclination the steels cannot press inward, comfortably against the wearer. In some makes of corsets this fault of inward pressure is so pronounced that it causes real suffering, and the after-effects are sometimes serious. It frequently happens that corsets, after they have been worn only slightly, develop this fault and have to be discarded. In this new invention, on the left-hand clasp, on the inner edge, near the top, is a little tongue, or clip, that acts as a locking means, and prevents the clasps, when hooked, from coming unfastened, which is another annoying feature of many of the old style clasps.

MAY ORGANIZE A NEW BANK

Plans Under Way to Establish It in Columbia Heights.

Will Have Capital Stock of $50,000 at $10 a Share—Will Serve Mount Pleasant.

Considerable interest is manifested in financial circles in the efforts of business men and property holders of Columbia Heights to establish a bank there. A meeting of those interested in the project has been held, and it is said, sufficient encouragement has been given in the way of stock subscriptions to warrant the expectation that the bank will be organized and engage in business within a few months.

It is proposed to organize the institution on the basis of $50,000 capital, of which about $20,000 has been subscribed. It is also proposed that the bank shall occupy a part of what is now known as the Arcade Building, which was formerly the car barn of the Capital Traction Company, before the extension of the Fourteenth street line to Decatur street.

The meeting of the promoters of the bank will be held at the Savoy Hotel next Monday night to consider important matters connected with the subscription to the stock and the incorporation of the bank.

A committee composed of Lewis Brunning, William H. Saunders, Charles P. Fonda, Andrew B. Loeffler, Dr. Wade Atkinson, Ward A. Fitzsimmons, Watson J. Newton, William A. Poulton, George W. Cox, Jr., Frank Walton, Frank Altman, Louis H. Stahler, and William Todd is working upon a charter for the bank.

Owing to the growing business interests on "The Hill," and the large number of business men who have their homes in the vicinity, it is thought by the promoters that a bank will pay well in Columbia Heights. It is said that the banks at the corner of U street do not well serve the locality, because of the distance at which they are located, and considerable enthusiasm prevails in Columbia Heights and Mount Pleasant at the prospect of having a bank there. The subscriptions to the stock have been quite liberal among the business men living there, and it is expected that the entire amount will be raised from persons to directly accommodate the institution. The shares are placed at $10 each, and the amount of stock allowed to each subscriber is limited.

Transfer Control of Reservations.

Proceedings have been instituted by the District engineer department to transfer the control of the two proposed reservations at the intersection of New Jersey and Massachusetts avenues to the chief of engineers of the United States army. The establishment of these reservations is the result of the rearrangement of roadways at this point in connection with the extension of railway tracks to the Union Station.
